A LETTER FROM THE CHAIR PERSON OF THE BOARD

When I think back over this past year at Village Northwest Unlimited, the two words that first and foremost come to mind are THANK YOU! Thank you to our awesome staff who have tirelessly throughout this year to provide excellent care and service to our Village residents. They have handled the extra burden of all the issues of dealing with COVID-19 in an amazing way. Thank you to Barry and the cabinet for the tremendous leadership they have provided to the staff and Village clients on a daily basis. They have never wavered in the Village's commitment to provide Purpose, Privacy and Dignity to those we serve. And finally thank you to the Village donors and volunteers, who have so faithfully supported the Village over the years. With your support, the Village continues to be in a strong financial position.

“When I think back over this past year at Village Northwest Unlimited, the two words that first and foremost come to mind are THANK YOU!”

DENNIS TEN CLAY

2021 was a challenging, but also exciting year at the Village. We saw the completion of two new beautiful homes on campus that are providing a comfortable, family-like atmosphere for the residents living there. Our day programming continues to find new exciting opportunities for the residents. They have once again been able to go out in the community and participate in many activities. The Village was also privileged to host the Governor of Iowa in August. The staff and residents did an outstanding job showing the Governor what the Village stands for.

THANK YOU to the staff, leadership team, donors and volunteers for making 2021 another great year at Village Northwest Unlimited

Dennis Ten Clay
Chairperson of the Board

A LETTER FROM THE CEO & PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD

If you are reading this annual letter for 2021, it is because you are in some way connected to the Village and that is the theme of this year's report...Stories That Connect. As human beings, we all strive to be connected with our family, friends, co-workers and others we meet. It is this need to feel connected which brings us feelings of belonging, satisfaction and motivation to seek out more ways to be connected to those around us.

At the Village, we strive every day to create and bring to life Stories That Connect for our residents. When we think of being connected it involves our home life, our work life and our social life and so we are excited to share with you the Stories That Connect in this year's annual report that demonstrate how Village residents are connecting.

One of the things we have heard frequently with the construction of the new homes we have built on our campus is how they provide a more family-like environment with their smaller 6-bed size. This smaller size provides for a closeness between residents and staff and we believe a more intimate level of care. The residents appreciate their own half baths, the front porch to sit on and the open concept for freely moving around. We were excited to complete two more homes this past year and our residents are already enjoying their new homes and building new connections with staff and their housemates.

Another way we are connecting people is in the development of our new day program for the people who live on our campus. This new day program provides choices and options for our residents on what activities they would like to participate in during their day. This program is designed to connect people of common interests and to connect people to the greater community outside of the Village. It is amazing to see our residents out enjoying themselves in the community and as you read the article about the Twins game, you will see how their enthusiasm is contagious and people want to connect with the energy they exhibit. Reading this article will make you feel good and want to connect with others around you.

The final story I want to highlight from this year's report is the story about John. John was not well connected at one point in his life while living in Missouri. Thankfully, John had loving and caring family that were willing to assist him to be connected in a more dignified way. Together we were able to welcome

Barry W. Whitsell
PRESIDENT & CEO

John to be a part of the Village Family. John has blossomed at the Village and his story is a true success story of the importance of being connected to those who love and care for us. I am sure this story will warm your heart and make you realize the important role the Village plays in helping people connect to a better life.

“The Stories That Connect our residents would not be possible without each of you. The connection starts with you and the results of those connections are powerful and real.”

BARRY W. WHITSELL

Finally, I want to thank our staff, volunteers and donors because the Stories That Connect our residents would not be possible without each of you. The connection starts with you and the results of those connections are powerful and real, there are hundreds and thousands of Stories That Connect from the history of the Village, and they all started with YOU BEING CONNECTED TO THE VILLAGE.

Thank you for your connection and your caring spirits.

President and CEO

GOOD SAMARITANS ARE EVERYWHERE

In August, a few residents from our group HCBS homes took a trip to Minneapolis for a Minnesota Twins game. It turned out to be a better experience than any of them could have anticipated. Our staff members, Tracy and Terry, were on the Twins trip and shared, “We survived the Twins game and had a ball! We had some good things happen. While we were standing in line for snacks and drinks, a man was watching the interactions between our residents and the staff. Everyone in our group was excited to be at a Twins game and were enjoying each other’s company. This gentleman took notice of the excitement and said he really appreciated what we do as a provider of services to people with disabilities and how everyone was having a great time and so he bought all our snacks and drinks and wouldn’t take no for an answer!”

While at the game, one of our residents, David, wanted to catch a ball. The group was excitedly talking about what that experience would be like to have a ball hit in our direction and staff shared that if a ball came into the stands the lucky fan who caught the ball would get to keep it. Hearing this David shared with his friends that he wanted to get a ball so bad. Everyone knows the odds of getting a ball are rare at a game but a man sitting by the Village group overheard this conversation and decided to act on David’s hope of getting a ball. This man went out, bought a ball during the game, and then presented it to David. This kind gesture, as one can imagine, made David’s day and for the rest of the game he sat there watching the Twins and holding onto his baseball. Now you would think David’s day could not get any better after getting a baseball but it was not the end! David wanted TC, the Twins mascot, to come up by the group and he faithfully kept waving to get TC’s attention – 20 minutes later, David had a tap on his shoulder and to his amazement TC sat in a seat behind the group and visited with everyone. When TC had to leave, he made David’s day even better by giving David a hug!

The staff commented, “There are such great people out there and our residents really have a way of connecting with people by their excitement and exuberance in the way they experience life .

Surprisingly enough, things like this happen quite often to staff and residents while on outings, as people really appreciate and connect with our residents. Every time it does happen, it still catches staff off guard and they are eternally grateful to anyone who goes out of their way to bless our residents by their acts of kindness.

Connecting with the Right Employer

EMPLOYMENT BRINGS PURPOSE

Connecting VNU clients with the perfect employer isn’t always easy. Lane was referred to VNU’s Employment Services by the Iowa Department of Vocational Rehabilitation after he completed Northwestern College’s Next Program. The Next Program allows individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities the opportunity to take specialized life skills classes and participate in campus life. VNU performed a Work Readiness Assessment with Lane at a job site in Orange City. The assessment allowed Lane a chance to demonstrate his work speed, accuracy and work endurance. After this assessment, VNU supported lane in the application process for a job at Sudenga’s. Before going in for his interview, the vocational team helped Lane practice answering questions for an interview. Everything went well and Lane received the position and began working part time sanitizing work areas and building pallets. His team at VNU encouraged him to work up to full-time hours which allowed him to also get benefits. Lane said, “The Village and my work supervisor continue to support me whenever I have questions. I’m continuing to learn and I’m proud of being able to achieve full time work.”

Connecting with Each Other

BUILDING TWO NEW HOMES ON CAMPUS

Despite having the year that we have all had, we at Village Northwest Unlimited were still able to build and move into two new ICF/ID homes on our campus. ICF/ID stands for Intermediate Care Facility for individuals with an Intellectual Disability. Of the 180 people we serve at VNU, we are licensed by the State of Iowa to serve 60 people under our ICF/ID license. The people we serve in the ICF/ID setting are the most vulnerable and have the greatest needs of the people we serve.

The building of the two new homes began in April of 2020 and the residents moved in on July 6, 2021. Each of the new homes have six beds and the reason we built two is because a 12 bedroom home that was built in the 1970's had reached the end of its useful life and needed to be replaced. It no longer met the needs of the people we serve.

The new homes are each 5,000 square feet and are designed to meet the needs of people in wheelchairs.

Some of the amazing features of these homes are:

- Zero grade entrance for easy access to the home.
- Motion sensors on the front entry as it is tough to open doors in a wheelchair.
- Open concept floorplan for the dining room and living room so wheelchairs can move freely around the area.
- Wide and expansive kitchens with multiple height countertops to allow people in wheelchairs to assist with meal prep.
- Double-wide hallways to accommodate two wheelchairs passing in the hall.
- Easily accessible medication room.
- Private bedrooms with their own half bath.
- In the bedrooms, there is a ceiling lift system to safely transport a resident from their bed to the bathroom.
- Warm and inviting family style atmosphere make the homes comfortable and not institutional.
- Handicap accessible shower and whirlpool tub in the shared bathroom.
- The shared bathroom also serves as the home's storm shelter during severe weather.
- Smaller homes (6 residents) result in decreased behavior issues.

These two homes are the fifth and sixth news homes that we have built since 2015. The new homes really make parents have a sense of peace and comfort that their child is going to be taken care of in such a nice and inviting environment. Along with getting a new house, our residents all got new furniture, décor (if they wanted), pots and pans, plates and utensils, and new appliances.

Without all the support VNU receives from our donors and the community, this would not be possible. We are so grateful to be in such an inviting community where our needs can be met and most importantly our resident's needs.

Connecting with the Community

NEW DAY PROGRAMMING ON CAMPUS KICKS OFF

Planning a day program to fit the needs of 60 different people can be a tough job, but not with someone like Cheri Brunsting in charge. Cheri started her new position as the ICF/ID Day Program Director the day the Governor ordered day programs to close because of the COVID-19 pandemic, talk about a rough start. Since then Cheri and her team have adopted a completely new outlook on how they do day programming on campus. The main goal was to get our residents out in the community more, and we are doing just that. In order to do that, we had to change many things. One of the changes was we started using an online scheduling system called LifeLoop. This new system allows resident's families to see their loved ones schedule and photos that our staff take daily and upload to the LifeLoop software. Families can have more peace of mind knowing exactly where their loved one is and what they are doing every day. Seeing pictures of their loved ones enjoying their day program activities really connects the family to what their loved one is doing each day.

Under the new day program, residents went from having half-day programming where residents would come to the Wansink Center for either the morning or the afternoon and participate in classes that everyone took. In the true sense of the Village mission of providing Purpose, privacy and Dignity we challenged ourselves to say the old way of day programming was all right but not good enough. Now, with the new program, our residents take a survey each quarter and our staff assign them to classes based on things they are interested in. Our program staff take a similar survey to see who should be leading which classes and activities.

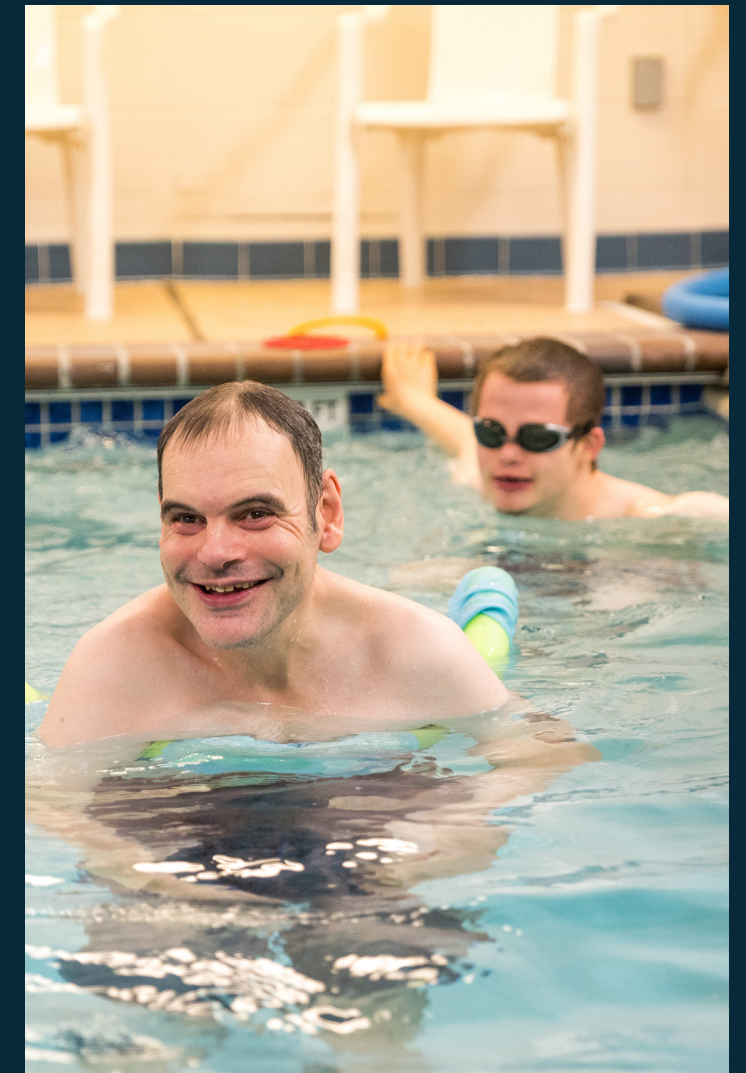

The response so far has been very good. The residents love being able to choose and participate in activities that interest them. Although, it has been a huge adjustment for the staff as they were used to doing block scheduling and having the same schedule every day they have embraced the change for the betterment of the people we serve. Now, each staff has a unique schedule for each day of the week, and based on their interests from the survey they completed, they get to lead activities that excite them and they have a passion to share. As day program staff see how happy residents are with the new format, it helps them in their adjustment and they know the work they are doing is adding to the quality of life for the residents.

Some of the new activities we started doing in the community are fishing, coffee club to local coffee shops, swimming at local pools, library visits, bowling in Sanborn, walking the trails in surrounding communities and many more activities. Some of the opportunities we offer on campus are spa day, independent art, music groups, baking, games, crafts, golf cart rides, and aerobics. Of course, we still have all of the necessary therapies (speech, physical, and occupational) offered every day to those who need them.

Being that this program is new, we have just scratched the surface of what we can do. In the future, we have ideas to do so much more. Some of those future activities include, coordinating community outings with HCBS residents. Doing things like going out for coffee or volunteering at local places that need help are a few examples of how campus and waiver residents can mix for the day. We also are looking into doing not only half-day outings but full day outings as well. Offering a full day outing will give us more opportunities to go places farther away and see more than what is just around Sheldon and the surrounding communities.

The possibilities are endless and we cannot wait to see where this new adventure takes us.

Connecting with Family

WHEN THE STORM PASSES, YOU'LL FIND YOUR RAINBOW

When we talk about Stories That Connect, we often don't realize that there is a path and sometimes that path is long and winding. Such is the case with John, who had a long and hard journey before finding his home at the Village.

Just four years ago, John was living alone in Missouri unsure of what was going to come next for him. After receiving services from Exceptional Opportunities in Algona, IA for many years, he followed his girlfriend down to Kansas City, Missouri. While in Missouri, John described his life as sad and unhappy and he felt like he was unwanted and unloved. He had lost touch with his loved ones and was unable to find a stable living environment. Back home in Iowa, John's family began searching for him. Thanks to Facebook, his aunt and uncle were able to locate where he was and drove down to pick him up. After returning to Iowa, John lived on his own for two years until his mother knew that John needed more support. She began looking into VNU's services and after a visit to campus, she could tell that this was where John needed to be. John was able to move to VNU in December 2020.

Shortly after moving to VNU, John had his aunt and uncle over for supper, the following is what his aunt, Linda, said, "After Bob, John and I prayed before we ate supper, John said he had something else to say. He bowed his head and thanked the Lord for Bob & I, for his mother and father, for a GREAT place for him to be at, and then he broke down and could not speak anymore. I have NEVER seen him break down in happy tears. We truly feel so blessed for him to feel safe and happy in his new VNU home. I am not sure that he ever realized that this was ever possible for him."

It didn't take long after moving to VNU before John's feelings of unhappiness made a 180 degree turn. John said that almost immediately he began losing weight and has now lost 10 pounds, he quit smoking and most importantly, he says he's the happiest he's ever been. He wakes up with a new outlook on life, he feels wanted and loved in his new home.

"I first met John while working at his house when he first moved to Sheldon. At first, John was reserved, even introverted. I've been happy to see the growth, both socially and physically, that John has shown during the time that he has been with the Village. I'm impressed with John's caring nature and how he has developed from introverted to an outgoing personality who is already taking on new challenges in his life," said Terry Martin, staff member at the VNU Summit building.

On top of loving his new home, roommates and daily schedule, John also began jobs that have become very important to him. His job coach, Lynnette McAlpine, helped him secure a few intro jobs. While living in Missouri, he was unable to hold a job on his own. He has found pride in working again and looks forward to what the future may hold for him career-wise. When asked what his vocational goals are, he said he would like to eventually be able to have a job at a grocery store or possibly a restaurant.

"The first time I met John, he told me that he wanted to be able to work again. Since that time, he has been putting forth the effort to improve his health and well-being in hopes of getting a job in the community again someday. He is currently working at the Summit helping with kitchen duties in the Food Service Department, doing custodial work at the Treasure Chest and he assists with shredding confidential documents here at the Summit. John has been willing to do what he needs to and is taking the steps necessary to try to reach his employment goals. It's been great working with him!" McAlpine said.

Moving forward, John says he doesn't want to think about his past. He wants to look toward the future and all that it holds for him at VNU. John's journey has been an amazing one but along the way he has grown as a person and found a connection with his new family and friends at the Village. Welcome to the Village family, John!
